October 12, 2019 *Interculturated Faith I: Seek an understanding culture & how it works. Presenter: Sr. Siebel Gaya, VDMF This module places the entire course within the framework of the Church's identity and mission to evangelize and the New Evangelization. Pope John Paul II first used the term "New Evangelization" in his encyclical Redemptoris Missio. It is to be understood as presenting anew or, as Pope Benedict XVI has put it, "re-proposing" the faith of Jesus Christ, especially in places where adherence to the Gospel has already taken root but is now in decline, so that believers may grow more deeply in discipleship. Pope John Paul II added his own insight about the process of evangelization and spoke of the New Evangelization as proclaiming the Gospel with new methods, expressions, and ardor. The task begins by examining the New Evangelization as it might apply to the United States—especially to its prevailing culture—and then focuses on the essential need to develop greater capacity for intercultural communication. In so doing, we may see new challenges and opportunities for presenting the message of Jesus Christ. The module refers to the Catholic bishops of the United States' document Go and Make Disciples as expressing their vision of evangelization in providing the framework for the Church's identity and mission in the United States. Cost: $30 per session
