Whether you have been involved in the RCIA for one day or thirty years, you do not want to miss this! Priests, Deacons, RCIA Coordinators/Directors, Team Members, DREs and any Catholics who are interested in developing the RCIA process in your parish to its highest level are strongly encouraged to attend this essential summit.

Bill Keimig is the Assistant Director of the Catechetical Institute at Franciscan University of Steubenville, Ohio.

Dr. Keimig holds a Doctorate in Ministry from the Catholic University of America, and a Master's Degree in Theology and Christian Ministry with a Certification in Catechetics from Franciscan University. He served for nine years as the Director of the Association for Catechumenal Ministry (ACM), which assists dioceses in training clergy and laity to implement the RCIA ministry, and was the managing editor of ACM's series of RCIA texts currently used in thousands of U.S. parishes and in many other countries. For 15 years, he served as the Director of Religious Education at St. Mary's of Piscataway Catholic Church in Clinton, Maryland. Along with this work, Dr. Keimig served as a master catechist in the Hearts Aflame and Faith Foundations catechist formation programs for the Archdiocese of Washington, DC.
